MONTEREY ICE COMPANY
600 East Franklin Street
Monterey, California
June 21, 1944

Wilma Cook
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone Cymbal
Carmel, California.

Dear Editor:

In reference to the editorial in your paper of June 16, about the ice vending machine which is operated by the Monterey Ice Delivery.

It is too bad that we could not have had such support during the last six months while we were dealing with the City Council over permission to replace the unit mentioned with a modern and more satisfactory piece of equipment.

At the time we were seeking a permit for a new location, we had asked about twenty people, who had called in with complaints, if they would please write a letter, either to the City Council of Carmel, or to us, stating the poor service the vendor was giving, and not one would come to our rescue. But there is no reason for us to alibi for we know the present vendor is unsatisfactory and is being replaced with a fool proof modern unit.

The contract was let on May 15, for the construction of foundation and building and as soon as the contractors can get to the job, the people of Carmel-by-the-Sea, will be able to secure their cash and carry ice from a modern and fool proof unit, at Fifth and Junipero Streets.

We of the Monterey Ice Delivery are sorry about the condition that has arisen in Carmel and are trying to do everything in our power to correct any troubles which have occurred through conditions beyond our control.

Sincerely,
E. Langen.

Dear Mr. Langen:

The "support" you refer to was not forthcoming from us and other dissatisfied users of your sometimes-it-works and sometimes-it-doesn't ice machine because we and the twenty people who complained to you perceived that it was not the fault of the city council that your ice machine is not as efficient as it might be, and we had no desire to put pressure on the council to break down the zoning ordinance so that you could put up a new machine in a restricted zone. Even to the most obtuse in matters mechanical it is apparent that a new ice vending machine could op-

LIONS BEAT LIONS

In a twilight soft ball game played on the High School Athletic Field Wednesday evening, the Carmel Lions beat the Monterey Lions 15 to 9. Carol Templeman was the score keeper. Ernest Morehouse pitched, Waldo Hicks caught for the Carmel Lions, and the support they received from their club members was wonderful.

Assessment Rate Upped From 40 To 50 Per Cent Tax Rate Down To $1.00

When City Clerk Peter Mawdsley presents the assessment roll to the City Council Wednesday night, July 5, it will have a novel appearance—$1,100,000 worth of novelty. This year's roll will be set at approximately $5,600,000, Mawdsley estimated late this week as he approached the deadline for completing that document, Saturday noon. Last year's roll was $4,500,000, so that the new roll will represent a pick up of $1,100,000 in assessed valuation of Carmel property.

Three Carmel Boys Meet In England And Exchange News

Lt. Max Hagemeyer, writing to his mother, Mrs. Hurd Comstock, reports that on the first day of his recent arrival in the British Isles, where he is serving as a Fighter Pilot with the A.A.F., he met his Sunset schoolmate, Bob Frolli, also of the U. S. Air Force, nephew of Mr. Willard Whitney of Carmel. Not long after his arrival, he encountered Second Lt. Hugh Evans, Air Force bombardier, whose mother, Mrs. Emma Evans, flew last month to Pyote Field, Texas, to witness the ceremonies in which he received his wings.

A future plan of these three lads was to attend together a performance of the London Symphony Orchestra. Lt. Evans reports that he has met Lt. Bob Harnish, now serving in England as a bombardier, Lt. Bob Littlefield, pilot of a P-38, husband of the former Mary Uzzell of Carmel, and also "Top" Frolli, Bob's brother, now serving as an A.A.F. gunner.

17 Carmel Kids Yearn For Farm Says Mrs. Grandy

"I'm a gal with seventeen kids, a-yearnin' for the farm. All want to work, though some may shirk, but none would do you harm. So farmer, farmer, come and get these kids who seek your money. Please take 'em off my hands, I pray, and I'm not bein' funny."

The above expresses the sentiments of Mrs. Helen Grandy of AWVS. Mrs. Grandy has charge of the High School student applications for employment. Seventeen of the applications showed a preference for farm work.

"We have received only one application for student help on the farm or ranch," said Mrs. Grandy. "We all know that there is a decided shortage of farm help, and I am sure that if our ranchers knew that we have this file of young people willing to work, they all could be placed in short order."

"We have been quite fortunate in placing a number who expressed a desire for other work. One trouble we find is the extreme youth of some of our applicants, who desire work above their years. But that is being ironed out and these are being directed into channels where they not only are acceptable, but also where the work is of such a nature that they can perform it satisfactorily."

The reason for the pick-up: Mawdsley has raised the assessment from 40% of valuation to 50% of valuation. But he has lowered the tax rate from $1.25 to $1.00 so that the property owners in general will be paying the same taxes this year as last with a few exceptions. These exceptions occur in cases where Mawdsley has had to equalize the assessments, increasing valuation where property has been underassessed and decreasing where it has been overvalued. Those wishing to check on their assessment may call at the city clerk's office in city hall between Saturday noon and Wednesday evening. If any should be dissatisfied with the valuation made on their property they may appear before the city council to protest when that body meets as a board of equalization at a time to be set Wednesday night.

As the total increase in assessed valuation is offset by the overall decrease in tax rate, the total revenue to the city will be the same this year as last.

Mawdsley, in explaining his reasons for making the changes in rate and assessment, gave the Pine Cone Cymbal the following statement:

"I joined with the County on this year's reappraisal to review the assessment roll generally in connection with my studies of contradictions in value between the city and county assessments. I found the over-all average basis for the city to be 40 per cent of full value against the county and state basis of 50 per cent. Carmel is the only place in the county where such differences exist, except that Pacific Grove uses a 60 per cent basis on 'improvements.' Also, the entire state, with the exception of Carmel, uses either the county assessed values or higher."

O'Brien To Be New Rent Control Head For Monterey Area

Though the official announcement had not been made when the Pine Cone went to press, there is every indication that Robert Emmett O'Brien, Hatton Fields, will replace Wesley Kergan as director of the Monterey Area Office of rent control. Kergan's resignation was accepted last week. A retired contractor, O'Brien came from Kansas city six years ago to make his home here.

He is a member of the rationing board, miscellaneous panel, appointed to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Perry Newberry in March 1943.

43 Carmel People In Who's Who

The 1944-45 edition of Who's Who in America made its appearance this past week, minus its usual geographical index, but containing, insofar as it has been possible to establish accurately, the names of forty-three distinguished Carmel citizens. This roster includes nine writers, seven artists, four outstanding scientists, three educators, two engineers, two clergymen, one newspaper publisher, one treaty official, two admirals in the Navy and twelve Army Generals.

Literature is represented by Frederick Ritchie Becholdt, author; Elsie Lincoln Benedict, author and lecturer; Don Blanding, author and illustrator; Samuel Blythe, author; Martin Flavin, playwright and novelist; Hal Garrott, author and composer; Robinson Jeffers, poet; Anne Henrietta Martin, writer; and Miriam Clark Potter (Mrs. Zenas Potter), illustrator and author.

Carmel artists mentioned are Paul Dougherty, Armin Carl Hansen, Paul Kirtland Mays, Wilhelm Ritschel, Henrietta Shore, William Posey Silva and Abel George Warshawsky.

In the field of science honors are shared by Victor Conrad Heikes, mineralogist and statistician; Francis Ernest Lloyd, botanist; Daniel Tremble MacDougall, botanist; and Cornelis Bernardus van Niel, microbiologist.

Upholding the dignity of the professorial cap and gown are Donald Cameron Allen, Edward Octavius Sisson and Henry Walgrave Stuart, while Joseph Nisbet LeConte is listed as a mechanical engineer and Denney Warren Roper as noted in the field of electrical engineering.

Bishop Karl Morgan Block and James Edwin Crowther are included among the nationally known clergymen of America. Leo Edward Owens is Carmel's noted newspaper publisher, and William Ellis Pulliam is listed as a treaty official.

The U. S. Navy is represented by two Vice Admirals: Josiah Slutts McKean, retired, and Richmond Kelly Turner, on active duty.

Carmel, it appears, fairly bristles with generals of the U. S. Army. Now retired and making his permanent home here is General Herman Walter Schull. Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell and Major General Archibald Vincent

CUB SCOUT PICNIC

All Cub Scouts be at the Boy Scout House at 12:45 Saturday, July 1 for the big Cub Picnic at Indian Village. Transportation, lunch and prizes will be furnished by the Carmel Lions Club.

Picnic Today, Mom and Pop May Come Too—Play Program Is On

The boys and girls of Carmel are invited to a picnic on Friday (today) under the sponsorship of the community recreation program. Children from grades three through high school ages are included. They are to meet at 13th and Scenic streets, and proceed to Cooke's Cove, where Mrs. Harriet Rudd, Miss Carol Tindell, Mrs. Mary Jane Littlefield and Mrs. Mary Dugan will assist in directing games and keeping things moving. Parents are also invited to come along with the children and join in the fun. Each person is to bring his or her own lunch.

More than 100 boys and girls enrolled for the recreation program during the first two days this week. Mrs. Mary Dugan, physical education teacher from Washington, who is vacationing here, volunteered to assist the directors early in the week, "just for fun." Several high school girls are also assisting, and seem to be enjoying it immensely.

Classes have been started in cooking, sewing, pottery, folk dancing, tennis, and nature study. Other interesting events are planned for the near future. Anyone wishing information should

Carmel Not Yet Doing Its Share Of V Bond Buying

By RICHARD HEBB

With the time for the Fifth War Loan more than half gone, Carmel, contrary to its usual spirit, is lagging in filling its quota. True, the quota was upped from $413,000, to more than $713,000 but that is no excuse for the failure of Carmel citizens to purchase to the limit of their ability.

Up to Wednesday night just $183,580 in bonds had been sold here. That is less than 30 percent of what we must buy between now and July 8, when the drive ends.

With the war constantly in front of us in the number of army and navy wives who reside among us, with Fort Ord and the Presidio daily training men to send to the far corners of the earth to fight to preserve our freedom, we here on the Peninsula, and especially in Carmel should and must sacrifice to the limit to see that our fighting men and women who have gone into uniform are supplied with the guns, munitions, planes, ships and all the other equipment they must have if they are to win.

It takes 65 pounds of supplies every day for every fighting man, no matter where he is, and those 65 pounds cannot be bought without money, and that means your money and mine, all of it, every cent, that we can spare, and some that we cannot.

So BUY, and after you have bought, BUY MORE.

YOUR INVASION!

FROM General Bradley, leading the Invasion ground forces, right through every rank, American men now face a brutal, desperate, able enemy. For this invasion has only begun—before our fighters lies a hard and bloody task, one that demands all their courage, backed by all your faith in their ultimate victory.

That faith will be tested many times in this invasion—in grim struggles, setbacks, possibly even temporary defeats. It will be up to you to remember that early victories usually only mean more savage opposition from a foe made more bitter, more ruthless as the shadow of his doom grows larger—up to you to keep that faith in days and nights of gloom as well as in hours of triumph.

There is little that you can do to show that you realize what they must face, perhaps for many months. But one thing you can do—back the attack with every dollar you can spare! Let the Bonds you buy in this greatest of Drives be the measure of your belief in their ultimate victory!

Dark Gent From The South Takes Honors At Del Monte Show

By JESSIE JOAN BEVER

Pebble Beach made an attractive setting for the outstanding canine social event of the year, the 20th Annual Del Monte Kennel Club show. The gala affair was attended by over 350 of Dogdom's elite, and hundreds of spectators.

A dark gentleman from the south, STOCKDALE the GREAT Van Meter, trotted off with top honors as best of show. The dashing Cocker, whose stunning appearance and charming manners caused more than one feminine heart to skip a beat, belongs to C. B. Van Meter of Van Nuys. STOCKDALE also was awarded a goodly share of the war stamp trophies as the best sporting dog.

A huge, ruggedly handsome Irishman, HOGAN Smith, was selected as best hound. He is an Irish wolfhound owned by Mrs. Norwood Smith of Redwood City. The best working dog was Champion HEIGH HO PAINTED CHIEF, Boxer protege of Barmere Kennels. Dapper DARE Johnson, a Kerry Blue, made the trip from El Monte with his owner, Mrs. Carl Johnson, to carry home honors as the best terrier. The best toy dog was a piquant-faced little Pekinese from San Francisco by the fascinating name of YUNG TUNG BEE, who belongs to Mrs. Samuel Hyman. A belligerent-looking but soft-hearted gentleman with an equally fascinating name, ZORRO TORRO DON JUAN, was chosen best non-sporting dog. In spite of the Spanish flavor of his name, DON JUAN is a Champion English bulldog from Lomita Park, owned by Mabel Fox.

Among the local canine socialites who took part in the show were PETE Adams, ROBIN Fiske, SCAN Fitch, TIMOTHY Hoyt, and MIRACLE MAN White representing the Cocker set; BLACK FOX, BOWHIT PIVOT, BRUIN, RITA, PRETENDER, and PERSONAL PROPERTY Payne, presenting a solid front of Champions; WEE-GEE, COMMUTER, CAMILLE, and INCHCAPE Weill showing up well for the Scotties; GINGER Andrews, CHIPPER Ralston, FROSTY and ROCKY Bowman, GERRI Fisher, MR. CHIPPS Hatton, PEG Howard, NIHAR VOM

ISARTAL Ivins, HEIDA Sullivan, SKIPPER Weiser, COUNT DIMITRI Keig, PUNCH Sinton, BRIGADIER INVERES Prentys, and CHIPS Wilder.

One of the features of the show was a thrilling exhibition by the Mare Island Sentry Dogs, under the direction of Lt. O. D. Rinehart and trainer J. M. McGrath, showing how they would attack a Japanese pill-box. The star of this exhibition was a very handsome Doberman named ACE, who later proved that "handsome is as handsome does" by winning the Obedience Trials.

Everyone had a fine time at the show, which lasted from ten in the morning until late in the afternoon. The net proceeds went to the Carmel Red Cross.

Service Wives Open Playroom For Tots At Sunset School

Under the auspices of the Service Wives' Center a playroom, where mothers can leave little children for two hours on Wednesday and Friday mornings, will open July 5, at Sunset School. The kindergarten room of the school, and the adjacent playground have been made available for this purpose. A staff of experienced women assisted by high school girls will take care of young children while mothers are busy on these two mornings. This is not to be a nursery school, according to Mrs. J. J. Werner, the director, but strictly a playgroup, maintained to help mothers who need a few free hours now and then for shopping or appointments. A nominal fee of 25 cents a morning will be charged, with no deduction for less time in attendance. Hours will be from ten until twelve.

Each mother who brings a child will have a short interview with the director and the child will be given a health inspection, for colds or communicable diseases. Although this project is being undertaken by the Service Wives' Center the little children of the entire community are welcome.

A few simple toys and games will be provided, and donations of such articles will be much appreciated by the directors. They may be left at the Service Wives' desk in the A.W.V.S. office in the Pine Inn, on Ocean ave. Mrs. J. J. Werner, director of the Playroom, will be assisted by Mrs. D. C. Davis, and Mrs. M. E. Foster.

NEW TREASURER

Mr. Bruce Bacon and Mr. Douglas MacGregor were also elected to membership of the Vestry of which

RED CROSS NEWS

By HELEN A. FIELD

The members of the Staff Assistance Corp of Carmel Red Cross who work in the Station Hospital at Ft. Ord have recently taken on a new responsibility there. They have become part of the advising staff of the United States Armed Forces Institute. To do so they are taking a short course given by the man in charge of the USAFI work at Ft. Ord.

The USAFI (pronounced u-saf'i, as in ask) with headquarters in Madison, Wisconsin, has been established in response to expressed wishes of our servicemen to continue their education in their off-duty hours. Branches have been opened, not only throughout this country but in locations scattered all over the world in such places as Egypt, India, Alaska, England and in many others so that no matter where a serviceman may be sent he can continue his educational activities.

The work done directly with USAFI may be done in regular correspondence courses or by means of self-teaching texts and work books. In the latter case the man works by himself until he feels ready to take an examination. The fee for as many of these courses as he wants to take (provided that he passes the examinations as he goes along) is two dollars.

For those who prefer to work with established colleges and universities there are eighty five co-operating institutions already offering courses, with others to be added in the near future. This work is done in regular correspondence courses and the fees vary with the institutions selected by the student. The Government pays part of the expense for enlisted men. Officers have the same opportunity for work but pay the full tuition. Credit toward college degrees is given. Most High Schools are cooperating with USAFI also in order that men who have not completed High School work may do so. The range of courses offered is very wide.

the Rector, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe is the chairman, Col. W. E. Pulliam Senior Warden, Mr. A. W. Wheldon, Junior Warden, Mr. E. H. Ewig, Clerk, and Mr. Peter Mawdsley, Mr. Walter C. Nielsen and Col. R. S. Pratt, members at large.

Production are not difficult to Understand—

It is easy to form wrong habits of posture and speech, which in time become second nature. Therefore one must consciously form right habits and apply them until they become automatic.

To attempt tone before the fundamental principles have become definitely fixed in mind and body, is to invite confusion and failure.

Dinner Given For Adult Spanish Class

The congenial group which has comprised the Adult school Spanish class under Mrs. Sylvia Meeter Jordan during the past year gathered, for the most part in Spanish costume, on the evening of Thursday, June 22 in the gaily decorated patio of the Van Bibber home in Carmel Woods where the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Van Bibber served their guests a delicious Mexican dinner. From a huge basket dangled streamers, each attached to its individual favor, a brightly colored Mexican ash-tray or a pair of earrings. Following the dinner there was dancing to the music provided by a Mexican orchestra from Monterey. Present for the occasion were Mrs. Sylvia Meeter Jordan, Major and Mrs. Charles Young, Mr. Edward Franklin, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Clark, Lt. and Mrs. Bob Colnes, Miss Rose Nel Copley, Mrs. Sallie Copley, Mrs. Lucille Gammons, Mrs. Elena Weller, Mrs. Marta Colvin, Mrs. Elisa Colvin, Miss Frances O'Brien, Maxine Albro, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Timmens, Mrs. Pearl Youngs, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Merivale, Chaplain and Mrs. William Mason, Miss Billie Claire Mason and Mrs. Mirtha Fletcher.

operate as efficiently in an unrestricted zone as in a prohibited one. Nor was the six months' delay in getting your permit to put up the new machine the fault of the council which was willing to give you a permit immediately for the location where you are now going to put it. The trouble was, you wanted to put it on the post office lot, and to give you permission to do that would require a rewriting of our zoning ordinance, and the city council members—bless them and steel their arm to battle—are very chary of meddling with the zoning ordinance. In this Carmel is behind them in a solid block. So the six months' delay was due to your beating your head against that solid block. Meanwhile, we ice users lost sundry quarters in the old ice vending machine that on occasion does not operate.

However, we have your assurance that relief is in sight and the new vending machine will be established in time at Fifth and Junipero Streets which gladsome news we are happy to pass on to our readers.

Grace MacGowan Cooke

By FRED BECHDOLT

Grace MacGowan Cooke, for many years one of the most widely read writers of popular fiction in this country, died at the home of her daughter Katherine near Los Gatos last Saturday. The news of her passing will bring many memories to those who knew Carmel in the bygone days of its simplicity. For in those days, when writers and artists and university professors were a vital element here, she and her sister Alice took an active part in the unpretentious affairs of the village.

The formidable list of books—all of them rich in characters—which Grace MacGowan Cooke and Alice MacGowan wrote in collaboration was already well along when they came here early in 1909. Michael Williams, who recently retired as editor of The Monitor, and Upton Sinclair had arrived before them. It was the enthusiastic letters of Michael and Peggy Williams which brought the MacGowan Cookes with Grace's two children, Helen and Katherine. All these newcomers had been dwellers in Helicon Hall. It was a cooperative venture in New Jersey founded by Sinclair; and their migration followed a spectacular fire which left the building in ashes. Grace and Alice went to work as soon as they found a house and shortly afterward, needing a secretary, they sent train fare to a shabby young enthusiast, whose only claims on fame at the time were an unpredictable disposition, much red hair, and a great many freckles. The youth's name was Sinclair Lewis.

A year later another recent arrival, who was beginning to write poetry and metrical drama, became enamored of an idea which Mary Austin had suggested. Others smiled at his dream but he kept pegging at it. And so, thanks to Herbert Heron's perseverance, Forest Theater was born. During the few years which intervened before automobiles and paved roads began to tarnish the charm which tied such men as David Starr Jordan and George Sterling and Vernon Kellogg and James Hopper to the village, Mrs. Cooke was one of the pioneer members of the Forest Theater directorate.

In those days there was a large three-story stucco house near the southwest corner of Carmel. The house has been so extensively remodeled since that it is unrecognizable; the open land around it has been packed with all manner of dwellings and surfaced roadways have taken the place of the dusty ruts. But the nook in the low bluff which fronts the beach nearby is still known as Cooke's Cove; the name reminds old timers of the two sisters who wrote many books about the men and women of the Tennessee mountains in the big house. In later years Grace and Alice collaborated with Perry Newberry in several mystery stories; two of these were published serially in Saturday Evening Post, all became large sellers between board covers.

It is more than eight years since Grace Cooke went away to the hills behind Los Gatos with Aunt Allie and Kit. Among the most lasting of the memories which she left behind her are a gentle voice and gentle ways, and a great patience. To those of us who saw her in recent months since she took to her bed, she looked smaller than she used to be. And it will comfort those who knew her to learn that she went as peacefully as she had lived.

She is survived by her two daughters: Helen, wife of Brigadier General Paul E. Peabody, now in Washington while her husband is on duty overseas; and Katherine; by her sister Alice, and by two grandchildren, Leon Wilson and Mrs. Edward Weston.

The following verse, here published for the first time, was written by Mrs. Cooke a few weeks before her death, the last writing she was to do.

SALVAGE

by

GRACE MACGOWAN COOKE

I found a patch of purple and sewed it on my rags.

Now if the day be dull and gray Or if the journey drags,

Though the stitches aren't even and the color doesn't match, I've something good to look at, here in my purple patch.

The King must wear

A brow of care

Such spread of purple brings no joy, it's weary to be great;

And I think that when he lies to rest upon his bed of down

Brave dreams would hardly visit the poor head that wears a crown.

But sleeping under hedgerows and waking with a song,

Your good dreams wake up with you,

And companion you along,

And the dawn-light strikes your garments

So all the colors match.

And you walk in robes of freedom—royal robes

That men call freedom—

Mended with a purple patch.

Lap Robes Shown To Interest Carmel Women In Project

With the hope of interesting local women in forming a group to make wheel-chair lap robes for convalescent soldiers on troop ships returning from the South Pacific, Mrs. Charles McCauley and Mrs. Elsie Martinez have arranged an exhibit of robes made by the Russian Hill Neighbors of San Francisco. The exhibit opened yesterday at the building that formerly housed the Village Five and Ten, on Ocean between San Carlos and Mission, and will continue through today and tomorrow.

"These gay patchwork lap robes are fashioned of contributed scraps of bright colored materials and are warranted to lift the spirits of wounded men, as well as to protect them from the chill of ocean breezes. Substituted for the dismal gray army blankets which usually cover their knees, these cheerful lap robes are morale builders, besides being body warmers to discouraged, pain-wracked soldiers returning from their jungle fighting to be hospitalized, and are hailed as allies in their fight for recovery by hard driven doctors and chaplains," said Mrs. Virginia Nielson in charge of the project at Treasure Island, who expressed the willingness to act as liaison for any neighborhood group of Carmel women who might undertake the work. Women interested should phone Mrs. Charles McCauley, 2229M or Mrs. Elsie Martinez, 186.

MUSICAL ART SOCIETY CONCERT

BY CARMALITA BENSON

Carmel Music lovers had the opportunity of hearing Carl Bensberg, baritone, and Yvonne La Mothe, harpist, Sunday evening, June 25 when the Musical Arts Society presented these musicians in concert at the Carmel High School.

The Musical Art Society is not a professional society. It is a club, conceived with the dual purpose to give pleasure to its members, and to enable young aspiring musicians to be heard under friendly, critical auspices. The club is more than proving its worth.

Sunday's concert proved a disappointment to many. Neither Mr. Bensberg nor Miss La Mothe was up to his or her best form. Mr. Bensberg is well known to Carmel for the generous warmth and sincerity of his voice. There are, however, times when this reviewer wishes he would confine himself to less demanding music than Massenet's "Aria from Herodiade." As yet, his voice is immature to support overdue strain without full awareness of it on the part of his audience.

Miss La Mothe's performance would have been more easily understood had she been an amateur. She had played extensively in this country and has been a member of "The Royal Hawaiians." The listener had a right to expect much from her. However, only briefly did she permit glimpses of what she really is. Apparently she felt it unnecessary to give her audience her best efforts.

This reviewer wishes to express her pleasure that Frank McClain is again accompanying. He gave a capable performance and proved a most redeeming feature.

RACHEL MORTON'S PUPILS' RECITAL

BY ELSA WOOLAMS

Rachel Morton's annual pupil's recital was held last Monday night, June 26 at the Carmel Playhouse. The rather small but appreciative audience seemed interested in the various pupils. The following program was presented:

Trio, It Shall Come to Pass—from The Holy City, Gaul, sung by Jadwiga Babcock, Ruth Williams and Anne Barrows. In The Time of Roses, Reichardt, Songs My Mother Taught Me, Dvorak, sung by Laurel Dell Hildebrand. Prayer from Cavalleria Rusticana, Mascagni, Dreams, Liszt, sung by Eva Lou Lippi. Nur wer die Sehnsucht Kennt, Tchaikowsky, Green Pastures, Sanders, sung by Blanche Lodato. Plaisir D'Amour, Martini, the Lass with the Delicate Air, Arne, sung by Elizabeth Crofton. When Two that Love Are Parted, Secchi, O Lovely Night, Ronald, sung by Eben Whittlesey.

Following the intermission a trio was sung by Jadwiga Babcock, Ruth Williams and Anne Barrows, Lift Thine Eyes, From the Elijah, Mendelssohn, followed by two songs, Mother Sorrow, Grieg, The Year's at the Spring, Beach, sung by Ruth Williams. Slumber on My Little Gypsy Sweetheart, Herbert and Where'er Ye Walk, Handel, sung by Robert Jensen; Die Astra, Rubinstein, Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal, Quilter, sung by Jadwiga Babcock. The Last Rose of Summer, and Mimi's Aria from La Boheme, Puccini, sung by Verna Fassio. Ombra Mai Fu, Handel, and Evening Star from Tannhauser, sung by Carl Bensberg, and Si mes Vers Avaient des Ailes, Hahn, Aufenthalft, Schubert, sung by Anne Barrows.

Especially interesting were the performances of Jadwiga Babcock, soprano, Verna Fassio, coloratura soprano, and the youthful tenor of Robert Jensen, all of whom have excellent voices. The singers were competently accompanied by Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand.

COPPER WIND

Bronze-belled, a mighty wind came tolling sound,
A ringing copper wind that spread the flowers,
And smoothed the leaves and petals overground,
And shook, like ripened plums, the twilight hours.
We stood against its taking on the hill,
The lungs deep-filling as with amber light,
And heard the flowers widen, and the spill
Of honey-swollen fruits along the night.

And when we lay in midnight, wind-weight felled,
Upon the slanting shoulder of the world,
The words between our lips were copper-belled,
The flowers of our breathing were uncurled . . .
We felt the night slip under us, and heard
The trembling wing-lift of the morning bird.

—AMELIA SNYDER MCINTYRE.

THE FACES OF THE POOR

Denial marks the faces of the poor!
Pale palimpsests on which youth but began
The history of Divinity of Man
When poverty, that treacherous paramour
Of life, appropriated the brochure
For his own purpose; fondling the evil plan—
Being in his grim way an artisan—
To trace in unmistakable contour
The sum of all humiliations thrust
Upon the poor and humble of the earth.

Yet from such pages, marred by ugliness—
Blotted in haste and stained with tears and dust,
Has deathless beauty had a noble birth,
Sired by privation, midwifed by distress.

—MARION DOYLE.

SPRING IN EISENADA

What color rises on these mesa cliffs—
These dry escarpments barren in the fog,
Where cactus leaves are tantalized with whiffs
Of air as dank as from an Irish bog?
One night the furrowed slopes that front the sea
Observed her mocking face grow merciful;
The mute arroyos found their throats were free,
Though boughs were pruned before the wind's rough pull.

Today the mesa's tan, discouraged waste
Forgets the grimness of a ten-month's thirst;
Before the tempest, brown grass is erased
In dreams of shooting stars that bud and burst.

Ephemeral as meteors, this spring—
Some raindrops, blossoms, then remembering.

S/SGT. MARCUS Z. LYTLE.

FOG

And the Voice said:
"How do you think to trouble me,
Haunters of mist and gloom,
Monstrous shapes that form and melt in the half-light?
Your trailing, clinging curtains hide not my children from me;
For they walk ever in my sight as in the clearest day.

Yet a little while, and you shall be no more—
Shreds blown into the void, Forgotten.

How can you hope to trouble me?"

—CHARLES BALLARD.

THE DINOSAUR'S HEAD

My three brothers and I, when we were little boys, used to rove the countryside near Monterey. The wind always blew, and there was always that sweet smell of salt flowers and grasses.

On the shore were immense rocky points, with sea caves and tidepools which offered many excitements. One day, when fog lay overhead, the four of us decided the tide was low enough to warrant investigation.

We crossed the fields. It was then that we discovered the dinosaur's head. A skull, huge and moss covered, lay half buried in the turf. I defy anyone to say it was not a dinosaur's head. The teeth were falling out with age. Seething with inborn turmoil, we dug the ancient piece up and carried it to the little museum in the village three miles away.

They kept stuffed frogs and birds there. They had a stinking swordfish with tar oozing from its tail and jaws. They had glass cases with underwater scenes painted on the bottom. Codfish, deep sea crabs and starfish were suspended on wires midway between glass and imitation sea floor. It wasn't a bad sort of museum. It pleased us then.

The curator was an old man who played horseshoes out in front, from nine o'clock in the morning until dusk. We went to him while he was chucking a shoe, and told him to come inside his museum. We showed the crumbling skull to him. He must have been a good sort of fellow in spite of his age. He scratched his head, went off for ten minutes to consult dusty books, as if to verify our conclusion, then came back and asked us where we had found the skull.

Eagerly we told him. Inwardly, each of us saw his name on the labeling card to be attached to the find under its future glass case: "Dinosaur skull, discovered in meadow by Eric—, or John, or Richard or Philip—" But this was not to be. When the old man finished with his head scratching, he finally informed us, with a certain degree of gentleness, that our skull was that of a dray horse!

AT THE TURN OF THE STAIRWAY

A great many years ago, during the days when we lived in Boston, and the youths on the street sang "Tipperary," I saw a ghost.

My brothers, Ronald and John, were playing on the carpet of the hallway of the house where we lived. A patch of clear sunlight fell upon us. It came from a mullioned window at the turn of the stairway above. The three of us were playing, intensely engrossed in the amazing abstract fashion of small children.

Our minds were unconsciously adrift. My mother sat in the next room sewing. She would utter little singing notes which indicated her happiness of being.

Of a sudden I glanced upward toward the landing of the stairway. I saw a woman just starting downward. I can describe her dress. It had puffed sleeves and was of an uncertain tone of green. I was in no way startled. By reason that she was there accounted for her.

I said to my brother Ronald, "Who is the nice lady coming down the stairs?"

My two brothers raised their eyes. They, too, saw the woman.

John said, "She looks funny. What's the matter with her hand?"

Now, as she descended, I glanced at her hand. It lay upon the bannister. I could see the wood dimly through her hand. Then I peered closely at her form. The horizontal lines of the stairs were visible through her dress. These facts became clear simultaneously to the three of us. In

Paul C. Prince

Paul Cushing Prince, prominently identified with the growth and development of Carmel for the past twenty-eight years, died on the evening of Thursday, June 22, in St. Joseph's Hospital, San Francisco, following an illness of three weeks.

Born in 1875 in Washington, D. C., Mr. Prince entered the U. S. Coast Guard service as a young man receiving his training on board a revenue cutter, since those were the days before the establishment of the Coast Guard Academy. As a commissioned officer he served throughout the Spanish American War and was decorated for gallantry in action. Later he was stationed for some time in Alaska.

Following his retirement from the Coast Guard, Mr. Prince made his home in San Francisco and during this period it was his custom to bring his family to Carmel for the summer months. In 1916 he and Mrs. Prince, the former Miss Gertrude Wasson, established a permanent home here and in the following year he became associated with Frank Powers and J. Frank Devendorf in the Carmel Development company, continuing to occupy his post as director until his death.

The late Mrs. Prince, whose death occurred in 1933, was throughout her life zealously devoted to the welfare of her church, and it was largely through her efforts and those of her husband that Carmel's All Saints Episcopal Church was established and built in 1917. During all of the twenty-seven years of the church's existence Mr. Prince has been a member of the Vestry and for the past six years the treasurer of All Saints.

For fifteen years he has served Carmel as a member of the board of directors for the Harrison Memorial Library.

In characterizing this man of gentle spirit and staunch integrity whose loss will be felt deeply in Carmel, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe, Rector of All Saints, found Paul Prince fitting more perfectly than any other he has known Bernard Shaw's definition of a gentleman: "One who puts more into life than he takes out."

Surviving Mr. Prince are a son, David Prince of Pasadena, a daughter, Mrs. Louise Prince Murphy of Carmel, whose husband, Commander J. W. Murphy is now on overseas duty; two sisters: Mrs. S. W. Burgess of Washington, D. C., and Miss Ethel T. Prince of Hudson, New York; and four grandchildren: Louise Prince of Palo Alto, Paul Taylor Prince of Pasadena, Joan and Paula Murphy of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held in San Francisco, followed by interment in Cypress Lawn.

From Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff, chairman of the library board, comes the following expression of regret for the loss of a member and friend:

"The Board of the Harrison Memorial Library has lost one of its most valued and best beloved members, Paul Prince.

"Mr. Prince was a member of the board for 15 years and during all that time gave faithful service as its secretary.

"But it was not his conscientious secretarial work alone that the board appreciated. What we valued most was his calm, well-considered judgment of any problem that came before us, his staunch support of the library at all times and the friendliness and tolerance he always showed in his relation to the other members of the board as well as to the members of the library staff.

"He was a true friend of the library and we shall always think of him with sincere gratitude."

The only War Bond you'll ever regret is the one you didn't buy!

piston

Inside your engine are cylinders...like so many upside-down water glasses. And inside each cylinder is a snug-fitting piston that slides up and down like your dish mop in a glass. But pistons must do it about 1800 times every minute your engine is running. And that's traveling!

Without constant lubrication, pistons would heat up and swell—get stuck tight in seconds. Fact is, lubrication is all that keeps your car from joining the 5000 American automobiles that are junked every day.

That's why it's a ritual with Shell people to examine the oil level in your car. Because if it isn't up there at running level, you are heading for trouble.

And Shell doesn't want you in trouble. If your car should stick a piston you wouldn't be coming in for one of our free services. Nor for our gasoline, oil, tires, grease jobs, batteries, etc.

Take Care of YOUR RANGE

save food...save fuel

Today...never say, "Oh, that's not enough to save." Use every spoonful of leftovers especially if they are beef, lamb or pork. Grind up meat scrap...hash it, cake it or loaf it. Pep it up as a Mexican dish with chili or go Chinese with soy sauce and onions. Leftovers are so easily turned into appetizing nourishing meals. Saving food IS important! Did you know that American families have been throwing away enough food each year to feed ALL our armies overseas? It's the truth. There is just one other important saving too. Save the life and the cooking efficiency of your range by keeping it clean and in good repair. The best way to do this is to "service it up" after every meal. It will look better to you and it will cook better for you.

To Welcome Distinguished Artist

A group of Carmel artists gathered informally last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmman to welcome as a new resident here Marjorie Wintermute Schiffeler, who with her three-year-old son, John, came from Berkeley recently to establish a permanent home in the Scenic Drive residence built by her mother, the late Mrs. George Wintermute. Mrs. Schiffeler is a distinguished painter whose works have already won her high national recognition. She will be remembered here especially by her portrait of a negro woman, entitled Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, which excited much enthusiasm when it was exhibited in the Carmel Art gallery some time ago, and which has since been shown throughout the country, resulting in an offer for its purchase by the State of Virginia. Mrs. Schiffeler's husband, the late Charles Schiffeler was a noted singer and at the time of his death last year was a member of the San Francisco Opera company.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

"The American Dream" will be the sermon theme of Dr. James E. Crowther next Sunday morning at the Church of the Wayfarer. It is prompted by the fact that next Tuesday is not only the 168th birthday anniversary of our Nation, but it is also the 118th anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson. We sorely need to note the dangerous drift from his principles. Dr. Crowther will speak of the Dream, the Nightmare, and the Awakening. The organ music, played by Elinor Smith, will be "Supplication," Asper; "Holy, Holy, Holy," Lorenz; "Andantino," Es-lave; "Hymn of Praise," Rinek; "Solemn," Roulers-Rossini. The Church School is at 9:45. The Church Service is at eleven. Visitors are cordially invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, July 2, on the subject "God." The Golden Text will be: "Who is God, save the Lord? and who is a rock, save our God? God is my strength and power: and he maketh my way perfect." (II Sam. 22: 32, 33).

Bible selections will include the following passage from Psalms 62: 7, 11: "In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God. God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God."

Mylar Reports On Carmel's Ill In San Francisco

Assistant Postmaster Fred Mylar, whose thoughtfulness in visiting and keeping "tabs" on Carmel people who must spend a session in San Francisco hospitals has made him an unofficial emissary between the town and its ill, checked up on Councilman Bernard Rowntree, in the Franklin Hospital and Clarence Dodd at the Stanford Lane on a trip to San Francisco Monday.

He found both Carmel men improving under treatment and in good spirits. Rowntree expressed the hope that the physicians would let him come home to Carmel for a few days early in July. He is receiving ex-ray treatments. Dodd, with a heart infection, is improving under penicillin treatments which he has been receiving for a month and expects to be able to return to Carmel in August.

Mylar was accompanied by Mrs. Mylar and her mother, Mrs. Jessie Askew who visited with Mrs. Askew's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Schilling in Hayward.

unison we stood up and rushed to our mother.

"There's a funny woman on the stairs," we cried to her. She looked up from her sewing and smiled, "There's no one in the house. What did you see?"

It would take more than a casual ghost to upset the immeasurable tranquility and complete wholesomeness of mind possessed by my mother.

She came back to the hall where we found only what was always there, the hallway and the stairs, piles of blocks and toys in the patch of sunlight on the carpet.

The woman had gone. That this apparition had actually occurred is in a way verified by the solemn fact that she was perceived, not alone by myself, but by two other minds, youthful it is true, but nevertheless aware. We never had a parallel note to tie in with the strange episode. It simply happened.

ence textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which read as follows: "To ignore God as of little use in sickness is a mistake. . . . When the omnipotence of God is preached and His absoluteness is set forth, Christian sermons will heal the sick." (pp. 166, 345).

The affair is being sponsored by the Daughters of the U. S. Army, and proceeds will be used to carry on their welfare work. Tickets are available at the Service Wives Center in Pine Inn, and are one dollar each.

Carmel Taxes Upped 40 To 50 Per Cent

never lower. All the counties are under state supervision and uniformly use 50 per cent.

"The school taxes and the sanitary taxes are paid on the same basis of assessment as the county taxes. Why should the city taxes be on a different basis, that makes comparison with other places unfavorable to Carmel? Whenever there is a bond issue, or any other taxation proposal, before the people, comparisons are made with their taxes in terms of 'tax-rates.' Such comparisons are misleading if the basis of assessment differs. For instance the Carmel tax rate of $1.25 should be stated as only $1.00 if used in comparison with the tax rate in Monterey. Changing a 40 per cent assessment to a 50 per cent assessment reduces a dollar tax to only eighty cents, and so on. Therefore adoption of a 50 per cent basis will not increase taxes, but merely change the rate: A $5,000.00 property at 40 per cent, ($2,000.00), on a $1.00 tax rate, costs $20.00; and the same $5,000.00 property on a 50 per cent basis, ($2,500.00), on a tax rate of eighty cents, costs the same $20.00.

"Both city and county assessors and tax collectors are wasting a lot of time trying to explain confusing discrepancies between the two assessments, and to remove misunderstandings that arise from comparing taxes instead of assessed values. Almost every property owner gets two valuations on his property according to his tax bills. As it is quite common for people to use the assessed values as a guide to full value, it might be embarrassing to the property owner if, as is the case in Carmel, the basis is different from that in general use throughout the state. A low assessed value is generally a disadvantage to the property owner.

"In my judgment, having regard to the appraisals I have made, and the very large amount of work I have done on the whole problem, assessments would be equalized by adoption of the findings of those appraisals, and I have decided to put them into effect in the Roll which I shall place on deposit on July 1st, and to use a 50 per cent basis. I have so informed the City Council, who have conferred with me on the question, and they are in complete accord with me in view of my assurance that the change will not increase the taxes. This, of course, is true only on the city assessment total as a whole. Because of equalization some cases may have a lowered tax while others have an increase, the one offsetting the other and together producing the same result. There is absolutely no valid reason why two different values should appear on two different tax rolls for the same property because there can't be two values, and there is no justification for the inordinate waste of time caused by the existence of two values and all the resultant confusion. Imagine a situation where you might extend your city limits to take in adjoining subdivisions. Unless both inside and outside areas are using the same basis, the new area would have to be reconciled with the city basis for city taxes and still kept on its old basis for county, school and sanitary taxes. It just doesn't make sense."

PTA Urge Attendance At Health Conference A Patriotic Duty

By DOANDA P. WHEELER

There has never been a period in our national history when, merely to avoid getting sick, was the patriotic duty that it is today.

More than half of our doctors and nurses are serving with the armed forces and those that are left behind cannot be expected to contend with the health problems of a greatly expanded home-front without the most whole-hearted, and considerate, support from the general public.

There are several things that we as individuals can do in order to give them this support; but of them all, keeping the well child well is, perhaps, the most important.

With this end in view the National Congress of Parents and Teachers urges us to see that every child entering school for the first time this year be given a complete physical examination.

This is one of the services provided without cost by the Child Health Conference, which is held at the Church of The Wayfarer (Lincoln Street between Ocean Avenue and 7th) from 9 to 12 A.M. on the first Thursday of every month.

The next meeting will be on Thursday the 6th of July. The Child Health Conference also provides monthly check-ups and routine inoculations for PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN OF ALL AGES under the direction of an experienced physician; as well as informal talks on dental hygiene and related subjects by Miss Noyes, our Public Health Nurse.

This is in no sense of the word a charity clinic.

It is an effort on the part of the Carmel Parent-Teacher Association and the Monterey County Health Department to meet the war-time shortage of medical personnel, and we hope that every come to Sunset School between one and four each afternoon except Friday.

For the younger children there are stories, singing, and supervised play, also between one and four each afternoon except Friday. This includes the kindergarten to second grade age levels.

The swimming plans are making progress, an announcement of the opening day is expected very shortly. The program is under the sponsorship of the Carmel Unified School District according to an agreement reached at a special meeting of the school board Monday night. It is to be financed through contributions from the P.T.A., the city council, and donations from organizations and individuals. First Carmel organization to come forward with a contribution is the Carmel Lions Club which voted at its meeting Tuesday night to match the P.T.A. $100 with a $100 donation from the Club funds.
